

November 2015

InSource* attracts new senior associates

InSource is pleased to announce the addition of two new senior associates to its team. Our new associates greatly enhance the specialized skills and experience InSource has to offer our health sector clients.

Hugh MacLeod, MA

Until earlier this year, Hugh was the CEO of the Canadian Patient Safety Institute (CPSI). Prior to that he held a number of senior government positions in Ontario. As associate deputy minister of health and executive lead for the Ontario Premier's Health Results Team, Hugh developed surgical wait time, critical care and primary care strategies, and created Local Health Integration Networks.

In BC, Hugh has been senior vice-president of Vancouver Coastal Health and senior vice-president of the Health Employers Association of British Columbia.

Trisha Greenhalgh, OBE, MD, FMedSci

Trisha is Professor of Primary Care Health Sciences at Oxford. She studied Medical, Social and Political Sciences at Cambridge and Clinical Medicine at Oxford before training as an academic GP. She has previously worked at University College London (1986-2010) and the London School of Medicine and Dentistry (2010-2014).

Trisha leads a program of research at the interface between the social sciences and medicine. Her work seeks to maintain the traditional aspects of healthcare while embracing the new opportunities created by science and technology to improve health outcomes. She is the author of 250 peer-reviewed publications and eight textbooks. She was awarded the OBE for Services to Medicine in 2001 and made a Fellow of the Academy of Medical Sciences in 2014.

For more information about InSource, visit our website – www.in-source.ca.